Baca cerita di bawah dan jawab soalan-soalan yang berikutnya.

There were three young men who wanted to marry the headman's daughter. "Show me your skill and I will decide which one of you can marry my daughter," said the headman.

The first young man was strong. He placed two huge rocks on his shoulder and ran. The second man was skilful with a rifle. He shot at a bird flying in the sky and injured its wing. The third man sang so well that even the wild animals stopped their cries and listened.

After their performances the headman still could not make up his mind. A few days later, the girl was at the river washing her clothes. The young men were on the bank watching her. Suddenly the girl slipped and fell into the river. At once the strong young man jumped into the river and saved her.

The headman was grateful to the strong young man. He said "My daughter is yours. You are the only one who risked your life to save hers."

Dear Amri,

How are you? I hope you and your family are fine. You asked me how I spend my monthly allowance. I receive my allowance every month, so I have a budget to help me spend it wisely.

Firstly, I put a small sum, about 18% of my allowance into my savings. Secondly, I spend most of my money, that is about 55% on needs such as books, stationeries, and food. These items are necessary and important. Thirdly, I spend some of my money, that is about 27% on wants such as comics and game cards. These items are not as important, but I enjoy them.

That is all for now. Thank you.
